Phillipa Ward and Genevieve Labean hosted a special evening of cocktails and shopping at Tory Burch's newest store. More than 100 people gathered and shopped at the chic boutique located in the heart of the Meatpacking District. Guests included Chelsea Clinton and Mel Rose from America's Next Top Model.

The event benefited Joan's Legacy: Uniting Against Lung Cancer, a charitable organization committed to fighting lung cancer by funding advanced research and focusing greater attention on the world's leading cancer killer. Funding more than $5,000,000 in new and cutting-edge research in just six years.

Joan's Legacy has become the premier "venture capital" source for innovative lung cancer research.
