

The American Museum of Natural History Museum Dance

Chairs Fabiola Beracasa, Katie Lee Joel, Arden Wohl, Claire Bernard, Tinsley Mortimer and Milla Jovovich. Photo by: Rod Mickens©R.Mickens/AMNH

Jessica Alba and Cash Warren.
Photo by: Denis Finnin ©D.Finnin/AMNH

Byrdie Bell.
Photo by: Rod Mickens©R.Mickens/AMNH

The annual Museum Dance—one of New York City’s most popular junior events—drew hundreds of young New Yorkers in their 20s and 30s. The event began with an intimate dinner for 200 in the Powerhouse, followed by dessert and dancing for all in the Cullman Hall of the Universe. Music provided by DJ Harley Viera-Newton. Throughout the evening, there was a silent auction with luxury items from many of New York’s most exclusive retailers. Auction items included a corrugated cardboard aeronautical sculpture by Alex Uribe, tickets to a Stella McCartney Fashion Show in Paris in October 2009 and an outfit by the designer; a Judith Ripka 18K yellow-gold lola ring and tickets to Fashion Week; and Judith Ripka’s exclusive jewelry bar featuring designs from both the 18k Couture Collection and the Sterling Silver and 18k Gold Collection. Proceeds from this event support the Museum’s scientific and educational programming. The chairs were dressed by Stella McCartney.

www.amnh.org