Renaissance Institute of Palm Beach, a Caron Treatment Center, recently presented an educational forum entitled "Living in the Solution: Addiction and the Family, Healing and Recovery."

Held at The Beach Club in Palm Beach, the symposium focused on how substance abuse touches the lives of an entire family. Esteemed panel members included author and recovery advocate Christopher Kennedy Lawford; Charisse Strawberry, former wife of baseball great Darryl Strawberry; and noted specialists David Rotenberg, Executive Director of Caron Adolescent Services and Rich Craig, Renaissance Institute of Palm Beach Program Director.

"The educational forum preceded Caron's Renaissance Institute of Palm Beach second annual Lifesaver Gala which was recently held at The Mar-a-Lago Club on March 8, 2007." Mr. Lawford returned as Master of Ceremonies. Proceeds from the gala will benefit the Lifesaver Scholarship Fund offering scholarships to the Delray Beach-based Renaissance Institute for well-deserving patients and their families.

Caron Foundation is one of the top nationally recognized non-profit drug and alcohol residential treatment centers in the country. Caron offers residential treatment and outpatient programs for adults and adolescents, as well as families affected by the disease of addiction.

Caron operates facilities in Philadelphia and Wernersville, Pa.; New York City; and Renaissance Institute of Palm Beach, an extended care treatment center in Boca Raton, Fl. In keeping with the philosophy and mission established by the Caron Foundation more than 50 years ago, Renaissance treats the whole family system suffering from addiction, not just the patient.
